

About the Authors

Dr. Farhad Atai, Iran. Professor of regional studies at the Department of International Relations, University of Tehran. He received his Ph.D. in Near Eastern Studies from UC Berkeley (1992). Dr. Atai was honorary fellow at Harvard's Center for Middle Eastern Studies in 2000-2001 and visiting scholar at University of Washington (2014-2015). His publications include Studies on the Middle East, Central Asia, and the Caucasus (2014), The United States and the World in the 21st Century (edited with critical introduction, 2007), Art and Culture in Post-Soviet Central Asia (1995). He has written numerous articles in scholarly journals on the Middle East, Central Asia and the Caucasus.

Dr. Stephen Blank, USA. Internationally known expert on Russia and the former Soviet Union, Dr. Blank comes to American Foreign Policy Council from the US Army War College where he spent the last 24 years, 1989-2013 as a Professor of National Security Studies at the Strategic Studies Institute of the US Army War College in Carlisle Barracks, PA. Dr. Blank's expertise covers the entire Russian and post-Soviet region and has also written extensively on defense strategy, arms control, information warfare, energy issues, US foreign and defense policy, European, and Asian security. He is currently writing a book on Russian policy in East Asia.

Dr. Giorgi Gogsadze, Georgia. Professor and Head of Department of Human Geography at Tbilisi State University. He is the Executive Director of the NGO Levan Mikeladze Foundation. He is the author and co-author of more than 30 academic articles on the issues of ethnic conflicts, geopolitics, democracy building and elections published in Georgian, English, Italian, German, and Russian languages. Just recently has completed a research on minority integration in Georgia (the case of Javakheti) funded by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights in the South Caucasus.

Dr. Kemal Kirişci, USA. The TÜSİAD senior fellow and director of the Center on the United States and Europe's Turkey Project at Brookings Institution, with an expertise in Turkish foreign policy and migration studies. Before joining Brookings, Kirişci was a professor of international relations and held the Jean Monnet Chair in European Integration in the Department of Political Science and International Relations at Boğaziçi University in Istanbul. His areas of research interest include EU-Turkish relations, Turkish foreign policy, European integration, asylum, border management, and immigration issues in the European Union, ethnic conflicts, and refugee movements.

Dr. Tomasz Knothe, Poland. Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Republic of Poland to the Republic of Armenia (2004-2009). Retired. Joined the Foreign Service in 1994; was Deputy Director of Department of Europe-East, dealing with the countries of the former Soviet Union, Deputy Permanent Representative, Minister, at the Permanent Mission of Poland in UN, Geneva (1998-2002). Prior to tenure at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Knothe was a researcher at the Institute of History, Polish Academy of Sciences and Polish Institute of International Affairs. He is presently a Lecturer at Warsaw University, and teaches course on the changes in the South Caucasus and Russia. Member of the Committee of Experts on Migration at the Office of Ombudsmen of Human Rights. Writes a book on history of Armenia.

Dr. Sergey Markedonov, Russia. Associate Professor at the Russian State University for the Humanities (Department of Regional Studies and Foreign Policy). From May, 2010, to October, 2013, he was a Visiting Fellow at Russia and Eurasia program of the Center for Strategic and International Studies (Washington, D.C, USA). Previously, in 2001 - 2010, he worked as a Head of the Interethnic Relations Group and Deputy director at the Institute for Political and Military Analysis in Moscow. Dr. Markedonov is an expert on the Caucasus, as well as the Black Sea region, regional security, nationalism, interethnic conflicts and de facto states in the post-Soviet area. His publications include several books and reports, about 100 academic articles, and more than 500 press pieces.

Andrew Moffatt, USA. Associate Director of the Center of the United States and Europe (CUSE) at the Brookings Institution. In this role, he is responsible for the management and direction of the operations, planning, and administration of CUSE. His research and policy interests focus on political, security, and economic developments in Eurasia, and the US and EU engagement in the region.

Dr. Gayane Novikova, Armenia. Founder and Director of the Spectrum Center for Strategic Analysis. Visiting researcher at Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies (2008-2009, 2012-2013) and Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations Department (2009-2012), Harvard University, Cambridge, USA; Lecturer in the Department of International Relations at Boston University (2011-2012, 2013). Areas of expertise: international relations and the geopolitical developments in the South Caucasus and the Middle East, regional security and ethno-political conflicts in the South Caucasus. Author of several books and more than 90 scientific articles and chapters in the books; Editor-in-Chief of the collections of articles, published by the Spectrum. Since 2004, Mrs. Novikova is a President of the George C. Marshall Center Alumni Association of Armenia.

LTC (Ret.) Sergey Sargsyan, Armenia. Senior Researcher at the Spectrum Center for Strategic Analysis. In 2009-2015, Deputy Director of the Center of Political Studies, the Scientific Educational Foundation Noravank, Yerevan. In 2004-2009, analyst of the Spectrum. Areas of expertise: geopolitical processes in the South Caucasus and the Middle East, international terrorism, local conflicts, military-political aspects of international relations. Co-Author of the book "The Conflict Potential of the South Caucasus: The Geopolitical Dimension" (2011, Gayane Novikova, Sergey Sargsyan), and more than 60 scientific articles. One of the founders of the George C. Marshall Center Alumni Association of Armenia.

Dr. Aghasi Tadevosyan, Armenia. Senior Researcher at the Institute of Archaeology and Ethnography of National Academy of Sciences (NAS) of Republic of Armenia, and Associate professor of Yerevan State University. He was also a Fulbright visiting scholar at the Institute of Slavic, East European and Eurasian Studies at UC Berkeley for 2012/2013 academic year. Author and co-author of 11 monographs and more than 40 scientific articles published. His research interests include the transition of socio-cultural life and modernization of post-Soviet Caucasus (Armenia, Georgia), civil movements, migration, transformation of daily practices and discourses, daily life and practices in the Soviet Caucasus in 1980s.

Dr. Oktay F. Tanrisever, Turkey. Professor of International Relations Department and the Chairperson of the Area Studies PhD Program at the Middle East Technical University (METU), Ankara. His research interests include energy diplomacy and environmental security, the foreign policies of Turkey and Russia, security and peace-building in the Black Sea, the Mediterranean, the Caucasus and Asia. His recent publications include Turkey's Energy Strategy, (per Concordiam: Journal of European Security and Defense Issues, 2015); Ukraine as a Cusp State: Politics of Reform in the Borderlands between the EU and Russia (The Role, Position and Agency of Cusp States in International Relations, London, New York: Routledge, 2014), Afghanistan and Central Asia: NATO's Role in Regional Security since 9/11, ed. Oktay F. Tanrisever, Amsterdam: IOS Press, 2013.